From Tuesday July 4. to Saturday July 8. 1732.

Ceremonies observed at the Installations of the Knights Companions of the most Honourable Order of the Bath, on Friday the 30th of June, 1732.

THE Knights Companions having apparel'd themselves in their Surcoats and Mantles, and having the great Collars of the Order, and white Hats, met in the Prince's Chamber (their Chapter Room) at Eleven of the Clock in the Forenoon, and the Knights nominated, in their Surcoats, carrying their white Hats, adorn'd with Feathers, in their Hands; and all Persons who were to attend this Ceremony being ranged according to their Degrees, and waiting upon the Stairs, and at the Bottom of the Stair, that lead from that Room, a solemn Procession was made from thence to the West Door of the Abbey Church of Westminster, through St. Margaret's Church-yard, in the following Method, the Way being lined on both Sides with His Majesty's Guards.

Kettle-Drums and his Majesty's Trumpets, the Serjeant-Trumpeter attending with his Mace.

Twelve Alms-men of the Church of Westminster, going two and two in their Gowns, having three Imperial Crowns embroidered upon that Part which covered their Right Shoulders, and uncovered.

The Messenger of the Order in his proper Habit and Badge, covered.

The Esquires of the Knights nominated in their Surcoats going three and three, those of the Knights in the lowest Stalls foremost, and the others following according to their Courses, all uncovered.

The twelve Prebendaries of the Church of Westminster, proceeding two and two in their Mantles, covered with their square Caps.

The Pursuivants of Arms in their Tabarts; the Heralds in Tabarts and Collars; the Provincial Kings of Arms, in Tabarts, Collars, and Badges, all covered.

Then the Knights nominated proceeded two and two, those to be placed in the lowest Stalls going first, all in their Surcoats, each carrying in his Hand the white Hat, with the Plume of Feathers; then the Knights Companions in their full Habits, going by Pairs, but where the Knight in the opposite Stall was absent, then the Knight present went single.

Sir Charles Gunter Nicol,	Sir George Downing, Bart.
Viscount Bateman,	Marquess Carnarvon,
Sir Wm. Yonge,	Sir Michael Newton,
Sir William Gage, Bart.
Sir Paul Methuen,
Sir Coniers Darcy,
Earl of Wilmington,
Lord Delawar;	Lord Glenorchy,
Earl of Pomfret,
Earl of Hallifax,
Earl of Leicester,
Great Master,
His Royal Highness the Duke.

Garter

[Price Three Pence.]

Garter Principal King of Arms in his Tabart, and with his Collar and Badge, going covered, having on his Right Hand the Genealogiſt, and on his Left Bath King of Arms, the two latter in their Mantles, Surcoats, and with the Enſigns of the Order, with their Bonnets on their Heads.

The Right Reverend the Lord Biſhop of Rocheſter Dean of Weſtminſter, and Dean of the Order, in his Mantle, with his Badge pendent to a Gold Chain, carrying the Forms of the Oaths and Admonitions to be given to the Knights nominated, fairly engroſſed upon Vellum, and covered with his ſquare Cap.

The Great Maſter in his full Habit, and with his Collar, covered with the white Hat adorn'd with the Plume of Feathers.

His Royal Highneſs the Duke in his full Habit, and with his Collar, covered with the white Hat adorn'd with the Plume of Feathers.

In this Form they proceeded to the Chapel of Henry VII. at the Eaſt End of the Abbey of Weſtminſter.

The twelve Alms-men there entered two and and two, and coming to the Middle of the Choir, did altogether in a Body make a joint and low Reverence to the Altar, and turning about, then made their Obeiſance towards the Sovereign's Stall, and then dividing themſelves, ſtood on each Side in a Row down from the Rails of the Altar.

The Meſſenger of the Order in like Manner ſtood below the Alms-Men.

The Eſquires of the Knights nominated, having made a ſhort Stand at the Door, while the Alms-men and Meſſenger thus placed themſelves, entered three and three, thoſe of the Junior Knights firſt, and being in a Body, made the like Reverences together in the Middle of the Choir, and ſtood before their reſpective Seats, underneath the Stalls of their Knights.

The Prebendaries of the Church of Weſtminſter, two and two, entered with the like Obeiſances, and placed themſelves within the Rails of the Altar to aſſiſt at Divine Service.

The Purſuivants, Heralds, and the Provincial Kings of Arms, likewiſe entered in the ſame Manner, and ſtood before the Forms placed for them, under the Stall of his Royal Highneſs, to take eſpecial Care to ſhew the Knights their reſpective Banners upon their Entries.

Then the Knights nominated entered with the like Obeiſances, and retired, and ſtood under their Banners.

The two Knights Companions in the loweſt Stalls entered, and paſſing up near to their Banners, made their double Reverences together in the Middle of the Choir, and then retired under their Banners.

Who being thus plac'd, all the other Knights by Pairs, or ſingly, if the Knight in the oppoſite Stall was abſent, with the like Ceremonies, took their Stations under their Banners.

Then the Regiſter, in Breaſt with the Secretary and Gentleman-Uſher, in the ſame Method, ſtood before their Bench, at the Foot of the Sovereign's Stall.

Garter, the Genealogiſt, and Bath King of Arms, did the ſame, and ſtood before their Bench.

The Dean, in like manner ſtood before his Chair, placed at the Foot of the Sovereign's Stall.

The Great Maſter entered ſingle, with the like Obeiſances, and retired under his Banner.

His Royal Highneſs the Duke entered alone, and having made the like Reverences, ſtood under his Banner.

Bath King of Arms made his Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, and turned himſelf to his Royal Highneſs the Duke, who under his Banner made his Reverences, and then aſcended into his Stall, where he repeated the ſame, and ſat down covered.

Then Bath turned himſelf to the Great Maſter, who with the like Ceremonies took his Stall, and ſat down covered.

Then Bath turned himſelf to the Knight in the next Stall, his Companion being abſent, who at the ſame Inſtant made the like Obeiſances below, and repeated them in his Stall, and ſat down covered.

In like manner, all the Reſidue of the Companions having waited the Seating of thoſe in the upper Stalls, did in their Courſes, take their reſpective Stalls, by Pairs, or ſingly, according to the former Rules, by ſuch Paſſages as that the troubling any Knight in an higher Stall might beſt be avoided: Excepting only the two Junior Knights Companions, who continued under their Banners, in order to offer the Hatchments of the deceaſed Knights.

Which being done, the Knights to be inſtalled continued under their Banners, the Officers ficers of Arms, and the Officers of the Order, having made their Reverences, placed themſelves on their Forms with the like Ceremonies.

Bath King of Arms then went into the Middle of the Choir, and having made his Reverences, repaired to the Place where he had before laid the Hatchments of the deceaſed Knights, and then took up the Banner of the eldeſt Knight deceaſed, which he held almoſt rolled up.

The Provincial Kings then went into the Middle of the Choir, made their Reverences, and repaired to the two Companions, ſtanding under their Banners, who thereon joined and received the Banner from Bath, and made their Obeiſances towards the Altar, and then towards the Sovereign's Stall, and being preceded by theſe Kings of Arms, carried the Banner, the Point forward, to the Step of the Altar, where they made the ſame Reverence to the Altar only, and then delivered the Banner to the Prebends, who placed it upright at the End of the Altar, and then making the ſame Reverences, as in their coming up, they returned to the Place where Bath had placed the Sword, which they received from him, and carried it with the Pomel or Hilt upwards, and offered it in like Manner, and being then returned, they received the Helmet and Creſt, and offered them in the ſame Manner.

In this Form the Hatchments of each deceaſed Companion was offered one after the other.

Then theſe Companions, having thus performed the Offerings of the Hatchments, aſcended into their Stalls.

Then Bath King of Arms taking up the Cuſhion, whereon he had placed the Mantle, the Great Collar of the Order, and the Book of Statutes, and having the Gentleman Uſher on his left Hand, and being followed by the Dean, who then did ariſe from his Chair, they made their Reverences in the Middle of the Choir.

And then the Great Maſter, having made his Obeiſances in his Stall, came down into the Middle of the Choir and repeated the ſame, and then proceeded, and entered into the Stall of the eldeſt Knight nominated, and then the Knight came from under his Banner, and making his Reverences, aſcended into the Stall.

Bath King of Arms then delivered to the Great Maſter, the Tranſcript of the Statutes atteſted under the Seal of the Order, who delivered it to the Knight, and then the Dean adminiſtered unto the Knight the Oath enjoined, Bath holding the Book of the Goſpels, which was of the Tenour following, "You ſhall honour God above "all Things; You ſhall be ſtedfaſt in the "Cauſe of Chriſt; You ſhall love your "King your Sovereign Lord, and Him, "and His Right defend to your Power; "You ſhall defend Maidens, Widows, and "Orphans, in their Rights, and ſhall ſuf-"fer no Extortion, as far as you may pre-"vent it; and of as great Honour be this "Order unto you, as ever it was to any of "your Progenitors or others." Which being done, Bath preſented the Mantle to the Great Maſter, who inveſted the Knight therewith, and then Bath delivered the Great Collar, which the Great Maſter faſtened over the Knight's Shoulder, and then the Great Maſter placed the White Hat with Feathers on the Head of the Knight, and ſeated him down in his Stall, who riſing up, made his Reverences, and the Great Maſter having embraced him, deſcended, and having made his Obeiſances in the Middle of the Choir, proceeded in the like Manner to inſtall all the other Knights nominated.

Which being finiſhed, and the Great Maſter returned to his own Stall, the Dean was conducted to the Altar, and Bath and Gentleman Uſher being returned to their Benches (all which Ceremonies were done with the double Obeiſances) Divine Service then began: During which Time, the Knights Companions put their Hats upon the Cuſhions laid before them.

Upon the firſt Sentence of the Offertory, Let your Light ſo ſhine, &c. the Muſick playing, Bath ſtepped from his Bench, made his double Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, and coming before the Stall of the Junior Knight, bowed to him, and immediately turned himſelf to the oppoſite Side, bowing to the Knight in that Stall, who aroſe and making their double Obeiſances both at one Time in their Stalls, deſcended into the Middle of the Choir, where they repeated the ſame, and retired under their Banners. Bath then in like Manner ſummoned the Knights in the next

Stalls

Stalls, and ſo throughout the whole Courſe of Stalls, ſummoning them by Pairs, or ſingle, if the Knights of thoſe in the oppoſite Stalls were abſent, and then ſummoned the Great Maſter, and after him his Royal Highneſs the Duke, who, with the like Ceremonies, placed themſelves under their Banners.

Bath, and the provincial Kings preſent, making their Reverences, waited upon his Royal Highneſs, who carrying his white Hat in his Hand, upon his going from under the Banner, made his double Obeiſances, and being thus preceeded, made his double Reverences near the Rails of the Altar, and at the Rails to the Altar only, where kneeling down, he made his Offering into the Baſon held by the Dean, aſſiſted by the Prebends. And his Royal Highneſs repeated the ſame Reverences in his Return, and entered in at the lower End of the Stalls, and proceed on to his own, where he made his double Obeiſances, and ſat down.

Bath King at Arms being joined by the eldeſt Herald, did in like Manner repair to the Great Maſter, who carrying his white Hat in his Hand, offered in the ſame Manner, and returned and ſat down in his Stall with the ſame Ceremonies.

And afterwards all the Knights in like Manner, wherein this Rule was obſerved, that the Knights who were in oppoſite Stalls, offered by Pairs together, but if any Stall was vacant, then the Knight in the oppoſite Stall offered ſingle; and the Heralds according to their Seniorities took and repeated their Turns in going with Bath King of Arms before the Knights.

Divine Service being ended, the Knights Companions put on their white Hats, and while the Muſick played, Bath King of Arms ſummoned all the Knights to come down from their Stalls in the former Method, and to ſtand under their Banners.

Which being done, the Companions then inſtalled, ſingly, being reſpectively attended, as at the firſt Offering, the Eldeſt Companion firſt, were conducted to the Rails of the Altar, with the uſual Obeiſances, where each Knight ſo inſtalled, ſtanding, unſheathed his Sword, and offered it naked to the Dean, who having redeemed it, reſtored the ſame with the following Admonition, "I exhort and admoniſh you, to "uſe your Sword to the Glory of God, the "Defence of the Goſpel, the Maintenance "of your Sovereign's Right and Honour, "and of all Equity and Juſtice to the utmoſt of your Power." Each Knight being covered with his white Hat, were ſeverally reconducted back, in the Manner above-mentioned, to the Places under their ſeveral Banners. And then the Alms-Men forthwith joined, and in a Body making the ſame Reverences as they did upon their firſt Entry into the Chapel, and being followed by all others performing the ſame Ceremonies, the Proceſſion was made in the ſame Form back to the Chapter-Room; ſave only, that in the Return the Knights then inſtalled were in their full Habits and covered, and their Eſquires were covered.

At the Outſide of the Weſt Door of the Abbey, the Sovereign's Maſter-Cook, having a Linnen Apron and Chopping-Knife in his Hand, ſeverally ſaid to each of the Companions then inſtalled, "Sir, You know "what great Oath you have taken, which "if you keep it will be great Honour to "you; but if you break it, I ſhall be compelled by my Office to hack off your Spurs "from your Heels." Dinner being ready, the Great Maſter being preceeded by the Officers of the Order and Garter King of Arms, came into the Court of Requeſt and proceeded down to the lower End thereof, and entered into the Way at the farther Side of the Table, and came up to the Top of it, being followed by all the Knights in Courſe, according to the Height of their Stalls: Grace being ſaid by the Dean, they all ſat down in that Order, in the ſame Row upon one Side of the Table, each of the Knights then inſtalled having an Eſcutcheon of his Arms fixed to the Wall over his Head: The Dean was placed next the Junior Knight, at the ſame Table.

Garter, and the Officers of the Order, covered with their Bonnets, at a round Table placed at the lower End of the Knights Table; the Officers of Arms at a Table in the painted Chamber; and the Prebendaries in the Jeruſalem Chamber.

The Eſquires having for ſome Time attended behind their reſpective Knights, had leave given them to retire to their Dinner in the Painted Chamber in their Courſes, preceded by the Meſſenger of the Order, who dined with them.

At

At the ſecond Courſe Bath King of Arms aroſe, and the Muſick ceaſing, he made his Reverence to the eldeſt Knight then inſtalled, who ſtanding up uncovered, Bath proclaimed his Style, who then ſat down, and the Style of every other Companion then inſtalled was in like Manner reſpectively proclaimed.
